Abstract

Modernism is a process in which logic and scientific life with the historical value of sense required need. Modernity arise questions on each relations and every order and arrangement in the society and determines things with its scientific views. In this sense modernity is not against tradition. The task is to coordinate customs and modernity in tradition. It cut the unusable portion of custom and added the usable part of modernity. Thus tradition is the link between custom and modernity. The only criterion of modernism is the utility of life in good sense.
